» THE SITUATION

mBank is the first internet bank in Poland. After nearly 18 years, it's one of the strongest financial brands in our country. Its successful development is mainly attributable to its employees, who have previously worked in several locations in the city. Przystanek mBank is now their headquarters. The office building is equipped with advanced mobile working solutions and technologies, game rooms and conference rooms.

Office facilities are a key category of spaces that ES-SYSTEM provides lighting for.

Our extensive experience and outstanding knowledge of the industry allow us to offer the customer individualized lighting solutions. Paying close attention to the needs and requirements of the investor help us work effectively to meet and exceed their expectations.

In manufacturing our luminaires, we use the most advanced technologies in our modern production facilities, which is what lets us keep up the highest standards.

> THE CHALLENGE

The new mBank headquarters are an incredibly modern facility. Smartphones are indispensable there, as they are used to access the building, book conference rooms and easily locate meeting places.

When approaching the challenge of designing lighting for an office building, our extensive experience in completing unconventional projects and delivering non-standard, customized products proved to be a great advantage.

The customer wanted to emphasize the unique character of the building, which is why it was important to provide non-standard lighting that would be tailored to their needs. We designed individual lighting systems especially for this facility.

All of the luminaires were manufactured to suit the customer's specific requirements. Each luminaire and its prototype had to be approved by the customer and were continuously adapted to the designers' changing preferences.

> THE PROCESS

Przystanek mBank is a modern, high-comfort office building. This project was our first opportunity to work with designers from the company In Design. Initially, they approached our ideas cautiously, but with time, all their concerns were dispelled.

When we began this office lighting project, we stood out thanks to our competitive pricing, working flexibility and speed, professional assistance and excellent cooperation with the general contractor.

The delivery schedule was very tight and strictly adhered to, and the delivery times were very short. The investor appreciated our dedication and individual approach during our cooperation, as well as our quick reaction to arising questions and problems.

The entire project was completed using exclusively LED luminaires.
